INTERNATIONAL WEEK ON SUSTAINABILITY

24 - 28 March 2025 | 12th edition

The Faculty of Business and Economics introduced the award-winning course 'International Week on Sustainability', or I-Week, in 2014 to embed international exposure into the students' curriculum.

Programme

The course consists of 5 interactive days of presentations, discussions and workshops during which students are exposed to international academics, sustainability experts and CEOs. The I-week can be followed online or on campus. The programme received the UAntwerp Education Award for innovation and internationalisation.

Participants

Every year, we welcome a very diverse group of speakers and students. The 2024 edition welcomed 402 participants from 32 different nationalities and 5 different continents. We had the honour of working together with 44 partner universities.

A great event for students to

- interact with professionals and academics about economic, ecological and ethical sustainability;
- listen to an interdisciplinary debate and tackle a “wicked” problem together with students from other faculties;
- analyze a current sustainability issue through group work with other international students;
- create and present a poster that summarizes the analyzed issue;
- meet students from all around the world;
- improve their language and intercultural skills.
